

HIVSET TURNHOUT

higher education

nursing

Name:

Class:

Period of internship:

Department:

Internship tutor:

Internship mentor(s):

Total of performed hours:

Evaluation document Clinical Education, IVT Spain, november 2012

Module Applied Nursing: for internship in a hospital

School year 2012-2013

1 The beginning nurse is capable of systematically gathering and reporting information about the human functioning, illness symptoms and reactions to diseases and its treatment by patients.

Nr.	SUB-COMPETENTIONS	Interim review		Final review
		I	B	G	G+	N	I	B	G	G+	N
1.1	You systematically gather information about illness symptoms and treatment. You ask the department nurses about direct care for patients and proceed by means of medical records. You respect privacy and professional secrecy.
1.2	You observe and translate patients' physical and behavioral alterations during accomplishing medical activities.
1.3	You verbally report relevant information to care providers concerning the patient's condition and needs.

2 The beginning nurse is capable of organising care in close dialogue out of present or risk nursing diagnosis.

NOT APPLICABLE

3 The beginning nurse is capable of accomplishing and reporting about basic care in close dialogue within the framework of total care.

Nr.	SUB-COMPETENTIONS	Interim review	Final review
		I	B	G	G+	N	I	B	G	G+	N
3.1	You accomplish the appropriate medical interventions concerning ADL dysfunctions taking into account the basic principles and safety of the patient. You adjust medical care to every individual patient, situation and vision of the department.
3.2	You measure and register correctly a patient's parameters.
3.3	Concerning total care you provide basic care methodically to a patient, i.e. You gather sufficient information and material You include care in a logical way taking into account the basic principles of nursing performances You accomplish integral after care in a correct way.
3.4	You formulate and accomplish measures for preventing infections, physical and decubitus injuries by patients. You continuously apply manual hygiene in a correct way. You take the necessary steps for your own safety. You administer first aid in case of accidents.

4 The beginning nurse is capable of accomplishing and reporting nursing performances and practices entrusted by medical practitioners.

Nr.	SUB-COMPETENCIES	Interim review	Final review
	You attend subjoined performances and if necessary accomplish under supervision: You always act within the legal framework of nursing
		I	B GG+NIBGG+N
4.1	You accomplish nursing technical performances and medical practices entrusted by medical practitioners concerning drug application.
4.2	You accomplish nursing technical performances and medical practices entrusted by medical practitioners concerning the urogenital system.
4.3	You accomplish nursing technical performances and medical practices entrusted by medical practitioners concerning the digestive system and the metabolism.
4.4	You accomplish nursing technical performances and medical practices entrusted by medical practitioners concerning the respiratory system (4.4.), the blood circulation system.
4.5	You accomplish nursing technical performances concerning the skin and sensory organs.
4.6	You accomplish nursing technical performances and medical practices entrusted by medical practitioners concerning mobility and physical safety. You apply devices in order to correctly move patients using the right displacement techniques.
4.7	You prepare a patient of a specific caring category and accompany him/her during and after examination and treatment. You prepare a patient of a specific caring category and accompany him/her after surgical intervention.
4.8	You assist under the instructions of a different discipline care provider (4.12.).

5 The beginning nurse is capable of relating functionally with the patient concerning basic communication and reporting about this matter.

Nr.	SUB-COMPETENTIONS	Interim review	Final review
5.1	You communicate purposefully with patients in a clear, respectful and appropriate way. You listen actively to patients during care practices.	I	B G G+ N I B G G+ N

6 The beginning nurse is capable of accompanying and coaching the patient through the illness process and reporting about this matter.

NOT APPLICABLE

7 The beginning nurse is capable of working in a care team.

Nr.	SUB-COMPETENCIES	Interim review					Final review
		I	B	G	G+	N	I	B	G	G+	N
7.1	You discuss with team members about direct care for patients. You take initiative in an appropriate way. You respect agreed regulations. You accomplish your task in a motivated and correct way until fully accomplished.
7.2	x
7.3	You make it possible to discuss with involved team members about misunderstandings and conflicts in a friendly, polite way.

8 The beginning nurse is capable of evaluating medical care in close dialogue. (self-assessment)

Nr.	SUB-COMPETENTIONS	Interim review	Final review
		I	B	G	G+	N	I	B	G	G+	N
8.1	You discuss your own functioning within the interdisciplinary team. You take responsibility of your own learning process in a skillful, independent way. You are positively open to feedback given by other care providers. You optimise your functioning by means of this feedback.
8.2	You reflect daily upon a certain aspect of your actions and discuss your reflections during internship reviews. You adjust your actions by means of self-assessment.
8.3	You continuously adopt a professional attitude (ability to decide, rational orientation, critical attitude, inquisitiveness, ability to organise, sense of collaboration, sense of responsibility, flexibility, openness)

9 The beginning nurse is capable of assisting in the accomplishment of (scientific) research in order to obtain a more effective and efficient method of medical care.

NOT APPLICABLE

10 The beginning nurse is capable of adjusting medical care to new developments in society and health care.

Nr.	SUB-COMPETENTIONS	Interim review	Final review
		I	B	G	G+	N	I	B	G	G+	N
10.1	You ask critical questions about unknown actions or new developments and consider possible adjustments for medical care. You never uncritically take over other persons' actions.
10.2	You formulate, clarify and substantiate points of view concerning ethical assignments.

When assessing the competences the intercultural aspect of this internship is to be respected.

1. Summary feedback midterm evaluation

Date:

2. Summary feedback: Final evaluation

Date:

3. Feedback written internship report:

Assessment levels

You prepare in writing every planned interim and final review in your assessment diary. In order to elaborate this preparation you make use of your accompaniment and evaluation document clinical education copy student and your written self-assessment document which you composed during your period of internship. For every relevant sub-competention you fill in a certain score:

There are 4 assessment levels.

I = Insufficient, you master this competention insufficiently, there are significant shortcomings, crucial mistakes are made.

B = Basic level is present, you still frequently need adjustment or assistance, you do not succeed on your own, you frequently make small mistakes or forget details on a regular basis.

G = Good, your functioning is as expected on this moment during your education. You act as expected and the department is satisfied with your performance. If you reach this level for ALL competentions you can distinguish yourself from the average (distinguishing = 14/20)

G+ = Very good, for this competention you perform on an extraordinary level, a level which exceeds your current module.

N = Not applicable

The lower the assessment of a certain competention the more this is an aspect for improvement.